

SEMINAR:

23 September, 1-3 PM, Building 5126, Room 219

CISCA and STMC present:

”Colonial Medicine in India”

Programme:

13.00-13.10: Welcome and Introduction

13.10-13.45: Dr. Biswamoy Pati (Delhi University), Leprosy in colonial India

13.45-14.00: Break. Tea and Coffee are provided

14.00-14.35: Dr. Niels Brimnes (Aarhus University), Shifting approaches to tuberculosis in India c. 1920-1960

14.35-15.00: Open discussion

Recommended readings:

- B. Pati and C. P. Nanda, ‘The leprosy patient and Society: colonial Orissa, 1870s-1940s, in B. Pati and M. Harrison (eds), The Social History of Health and Medicine in Colonial India, London: Routledge 2009.
- M. Harrison and M. Worboys, ‘A Disease of Civilisation. Tuberculosis in Britain, Africa and India, 1900-39, in L. Marks and M. Worboys (eds). Migrants, Minorities and Health, London: Routledge 1997.

Supplementary readings:

- Jane Buckingham, Leprosy in Colonial South India, Basingstoke: Palgrave 2002, pp. 7-35.
- Sanjiv Kakar, ‘Medical Developments and Patient Unrest in the Leprosy Asylum, 1860 to 1940, in B. Pati and M. Harrison, Health, Mediciner and Empire. Perspectives on Colonial India, Delhi: Orient Longman 2001.
- Sunil Amrith, ‘In search of a ‘Magic Bullet’ for Tuberculosis: south India and Beyond, social History of Medicine, 17,1 (2004).

To Sign-up and request readings please send email to stm@au.dk

Aarhus Network for Science, Technology, Medicine and Climate Studies organizes a series of open research seminars each term in order to promote interdisciplinary discussion and evaluation of current research. The Lunch Seminars are informal lunch meetings with a 20-30 minute presentation followed by an open discussion.

